Boat safety inspections planned by CG Auxiliary

The Pass Christian Flotilla No. 35, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, will be conducting courtesy boat safety examinations during the next three weekends at four Gulf Coast locations. The examinations are free, and qualified boats will receive an Auxiliary "Seal of Safety" decal, according to Paul Blake, Flotilla commander.

Harold Eddins, Flotilla vice commander, said the examinations will be concentrated on a boat's safety equipment and condition of the equipment as well as the vessel.

Boating Safety Booths will be manned by Flotilla members from 7 a.m. until noon, Eddins said.

This Saturday, June 17, an examination booth will be open at Bayview Marina, Henderson Point, and the Pass Christian Small Craft Harbor.

Also this weekend, booths will be open both Saturday and Sunday at the Long Beach Small Craft Harbor and at the boat launching ramp, East Pier, Gulfport.

The booth at Gulfport will also be open Saturday and Sunday, June 24 and 25, and again July 1 and 2.

The Long Beach location will be manned July 1, 3, and 4, and the Pass Christian booth will be open again on July 8.

Also this week, the Mississippi Boat and Water Safety Commission reported a new law on boat registration will become effective July 1.

The new law, which originated as Senate Bill 2222, requires boat owners to present a sales tax receipt for a new boat when applying for registration.

Mitch Reeves of Jackson, commission director, said if a vessel was purchased outside of Mississippi and a sales tax was not paid at the time the boat was acquired, then the owner will be required to pay Mississippi sales tax at registration.

"The boating public needs to be aware of this new law in order to expedite their applications for registration," Reeves feels.

"The law still requires a $2.50 fee for any size boat to be registered in the state, with registration expiring every odd year," Reeves explained.

Cadet spoil site selection is economy-ecology issue

By DEE KACHLER

A final location of a dredge spoil site for a proposed Bayou Cadet mooring basin and marina facility is still undecided after "a meeting of the minds" Thursday between Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission officials, engineers, and environmentalists.

Where there had been a feeling of discord at previous meetings over proposed plans, Commission director Wilson Webre now achieved a degree of harmony among environmentalists by inviting officials from the Mississippi Marine Resource Council (MMRC) as well as Department of Wildlife and Fisheries representatives.

Together, the panel spent more than three hours trying to reach an ecological-economic agreement on an alternate spoil site which would provide protection for as much of the productive marsh life in the area as possible.

"We look toward the highest public interest," said MMRC biologist Larry Lewis in response to a contention by Commission Fred Curet that "marsh crawfish will be doing ok, but the taxpayers will be the ones to suffer."

A proposed U.S. Army Corps of Engineers plan calls for the disposal of 130,000 cubic yards of dredging spoil.

Bay sewer problems multiply

By ELLIS CUEVAS

City of Bay St. Louis sewer crews had to emergency problems this week.

On Tuesday, two manholes overflowed, one at the corner of North Second and St. George and the other on St. George Street.

At least one family had to leave its home because of the odor.

On a routine inspection of lift stations Wednesday morning, city employees found the station behind Hancock General Hospital and County Home about to overflow.

The lift station is the second largest in the city according to Bill Johnsons, superintendent of Utilities.

The North Second and St. George problems were solved with the use of a "snake" which unstopped clogged lines. Johnson said it was hard to tell exactly where the problems were as the area has had many cave-ins in recent months.

City crews worked from about 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesday to get the system working properly.

Bay firemen washed down the streets after the over flow of manholes were corrected.

Johnson said the problem at the lift station on Wednesday was an overload on the pumping station for some reason.

Effluent waste had to be pumped out of the lift station for City crews to get to the pumps.

When city repairmen were able to reach the pump, they found it had moved out of place.

"There is a lot of pressure on the line and a sudden surge could have moved the pump," Johnson commented.

There are 18 lift stations in the City Johnson said. The only other one larger than this one is the one near the oxidation pond.

There was special concern about the improper functioning of the lift station since it serves the county home and hospital.

Mayor Larry Bennett said an all-out effort was made in getting the lift station working properly as soon as possible.

The mayor and City Council have been trying to obtain emergency funds for the repair of numerous sewer breaks throughout the city.

Bennett made a trip to Jackson last week trying to get emergency funds to help the city repair some of the "health hazards."

Dr. Louis Jobe, district health officer, when asked Wednesday if it was a health problem with the over flow of manholes commented, "Where sewage is on the ground it is a health hazard - the Air, Water and Pollution Control people should be notified. Septic tanks, come under our jurisdiction and sewer systems come under the Air and Water Pollution Control.

Dr. Jobe continued, "Whenever there is an overflow, the city should try and correct it as soon as possible, and clean it up. These things happen wherever there is a sewer system, Bay St. Louis is not the only City with this problem."

Dr. Jobe suggested, "If there is a time when a lot of effluent waste has to be removed from the lines, I would suggest the City try and have it pumped into a tank and emptied into the sewer system in an area that is working."

Development 'Blueprint' calls waste disposal a local matter

By EDGAR PEREZ

Responsibility for initiating action on development of a county-wide solid waste collection and disposal system lies with the Waveland and Bay St. Louis City Councils and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

The Mississippi Research and Development Center, in a report released in Bay St. Louis Tuesday night, said the three local agencies should take steps to develop a county-wide disposal system if implementation of other recommendations is not feasible.

The "other recommendations" are those of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission's "Prospects for Solid Waste Management on the Mississippi Gulf Coast."

"If the implementation of those recommendations is not feasible, provide for solid waste collection and disposal in the county," the MRDC report said.

After initial steps by the city councils and supervisors, the report continues, other participants in a five year program to solve the sewerage problems in the county should include the Chamber of Commerce, Port and Harbor Commission, appropriate state agencies, press, federal agencies and regional development groups.

The document, "Economic Development Blueprint for Mississippi Part V," was introduced by D. L. (Chick) Anderson at a special meeting of government and business officials in the county at the Hancock Courthouse Tuesday night.

Lack of a county-wide solid waste collection and disposal system is included in the report as one of the community planning and development problems which must be faced in Hancock County during the next five years.

The report also lists the following potential problems affecting the county's economic development which should be considered in a current five year program:

"There are not enough water wells to supply surplus industrial and domestic water in the Bay St. Louis area.

"Many retail trade dollars are lost to out-of-state business.

"As Port Bienville develops, there will be increased demand for adjacent housing.

"Hancock County has a large proportion of sub-standard housing.

"Some of the beaches in the county are not properly maintained.

"The unincorporated area of Hancock county lacks complete land development controls.

"Hancock County should consider the adequacy of its public commercial docks and other facilities to serve the marine and fishing industry."

Anderson noted that the study has been underway for some two years, thus making some data obsolete.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor commission is currently actively engaged in development of the Bayou Cadet area as a commercial and sport fishing center.

Several problem areas discussed in the report deal directly with the county's manufacturing jobs potential. They include, in the area of industrial development:

"Port Bienville Industrial Park does not have available natural gas. Federal regulations prevent connecting to the gas transmission line passing near the park.

"New and higher-paying industrial jobs are needed to provide job opportunities inside the county for the underemployed and for those now commuting to jobs outside the county. In the area of manpower development:

"Inadequate information on the county labor force and on the skill needs of area employers is an obstacle to expanding existing plants and attracting new ones.

"Some plant managers indicate a need for more highly skilled welders, pipefitters and stainless steel workers.

"Many high school students do not understand career potential and job opportunities. Some of these students become discouraged with education and drop out of school.

"The low skill levels of many job applicants prevent their finding suitable employment.

The report also includes problem identifications in the areas of fiscal management and guidelines for local action groups.

In addition to identification of the problems, the study makes positive suggestions in each case for solution of the problems.

Anderson said copies of the blueprint will be available at the Hancock County Courthouse.

WORKING SNAKE - Eugene Sprouse, left, feeds the "snake" to fellow city employees Tuesday evening at the manhole on North Second and St. George Streets. Port's new tenant open three months, hiring

By DEE KACHLER

Bergeron Marine, Inc., a new shipyard occupying 40 acres at the Port Bienville Industrial Park near Pearllington has built and launched several barges during its first three months of existence.

The company is still in need of additional first class welders and shipfitters to complement a work force of some 50 men already engaged at the yard.

generated by Bergeron Marine will provide our company with the ability to adequately serve ever-growing needs of our customers," he said.

The Home Office, Bergeron Industries, is a leading barge builder located in St. Bernard, La. with additional facilities on the Mississippi River near the Port of New Orleans.

Jack Goleman of Carriere has been named yard superintendent at the company's Port Bienville facility, according to William T. Bergeron, vice president and general manager of Bergeron Marine's parent company, Bergeron Industries of St. Bernard, La. A $500,000 payroll is expected this year, with expansion plans calling for that figure to triple by 1981.

William T. Bergeron said he is very pleased with the cooperation his new shipyard has received from Hancock County officials.

Hancock Farmers Market report

By ELLIS CUEVAS

"Folks were telling me Saturday morning, this (Farmers Market) is the best thing that's ever happened in Hancock County," commented John Smith Wednesday when asked about the progress of the market.

The second season of the Farmers Market opened on May 20 and is co-sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Farm Bureau and Extension Service.

The number of people buying produce last Saturday morning was the largest crowd witnessed in the history of the local market, according to one of the regular farmers.

Smith said there were 12 trucks Saturday and they all sold out a large variety of produce.

Early Wednesday morning a steady stream of customers visited the market to purchase their favorite produce. This being the second year, the farmers seem to know all of the shoppers just like a store merchant, one produce vendor commented.

The success of the Farmers Market in Hancock County is a united effort between all organizations, farmers and most important the customers who buy their products," Smith stated.

Friloux, Steele cited by Heart association

Talbert Steele and Edward Friloux of Bay St. Louis received American Heart Association's Mississippi affiliate awards of distinction at the health agency's annual meeting June 3 in Jackson.

The awards recognized Hancock County Heart Association's programs in education, membership and organization.

Dee Hamilton of Gulfport and Dr. Harry Schmidt Jr. of Biloxi, were named to represent this district on the Association's Board of Directors.

Other activities of the association's annual gathering included election of officers, setting program objectives for the coming year, a report of the current year's activities by President William B. Alexander of Cleveland, and a keynote address by Dr. Nanette K. Wenger of Atlanta, a longtime volunteer and a recognized authority on rehabilitation of the cardiac patient.

Officers of the statewide organization for 1978-79 are: laurel cardiologist Dr. Cecil T. Williams, Jr., president; South Central Bell Vice-President John M. Mobley of Jackson, president-elect; Indianapolis physician Dr. Walter H. Rose, vice-president; Jackson banker John P. Maloney, secretary; Ernest G. Spivey of Jackson, treasurer; and insurance executive Preston Gough of Jackson, assistant treasurer. In his report to the delegation, Alexander paid tribute to the thousands of volunteers for the association's accomplishments.

He cited the Mississippi affiliate's programs of research, high blood pressure screenings, cardiopulmonary (CPR) resuscitation training, and professional and public education.

Alexander pointed out that the organization's life-saving programs are supported entirely by voluntary contributions to the Heart Fund. Recognizing the 1978 state campaign chairmen—Insurance Commissioner George Dale and Laurel banker Ben Samel—for their outstanding leadership, Alexander reported this year's campaign set records. Concluding his report, he urged all Mississippians to continue in their support of the Heart Association which has as its mission the reduction of premature death and disability from heart disease.

IRS reminds estimated tax due June 15

Taxpayers who filed estimated tax on their 1978 income must pay the second quarter installment by June 15.

The provision in the law for taxpayers to pay estimated tax in four equal installments means that one-half of the tax should be paid by June 15 using declaration-voucher two from the Form 1040-ES package, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Taxpayers whose anticipated income during 1978 has changed may have to file an amended declaration. Space appears in the estimated tax package to compute an amended estimate, the IRS said.

For more detailed information, taxpayers can obtain IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax."

COME EXPECTING A MIRACLE

Our Thanks to Brother and Sister Hands for watching over the flock.

Although we have not had time to become well acquainted, may I share with you something most wonderful?

Some time ago I met a "MAN," so great and outstanding and it is a joy to introduce "HIM" to you. The sad tragedy is so many know about HIM personally. HIS name is called "JESUS." To some He is a word of profanity, and to some a source of embarrassment, but to we that know Him - He is wonderful! Whatever may have been your disappointment with people, disillusionment with life, and confusion with religion, let me assure you that this is not the fault of Jesus. He has been misrepresented, betrayed, denied, and neglected by many. Yet I still find He is the mender of broken hearts, lives, bodies, and homes. He stands majestically with pleading Love to everyone of earth's billions and says: "Come unto Me...and I will give you rest. Matt. 11:28. The next move is yours my friend, and what will you do with JESUS?"

VA DIVIDEND HOAX
J.L. Dozier, Jackson VA assistant center director for regional office, announced the story currently being circulated in Mississippi concerning a 1948 special insurance dividend for veterans of World War II is strictly a hoax. The dividend referred to as the "1948 Special

News Briefs

Dividend" was paid in 1950 and 1951, to approximately 16.5 million veterans. Congress later passed a law which required that any claim for a special dividend must be received by the VA within 6 years from the date the dividend was declared. Dozier pointed out that any claims which are received now by the insurance centers for the 1948 Special Dividend will be returned to the claimant with a copy of the law.

The Good as well as bad

Today, we hear so many residents gripe about the way our political leaders do or don't do certain things. And that is all they do is gripe, but not to the correct parties.

Governing bodies have specific meeting times each month to discuss present and upcoming endeavours. In our coverage of the majority of these meetings, many times the only people around besides the governing officials are the press.

We all realize that it is our job to bring you reports on these meetings, the good things as well as the bad things which are discussed and are voted on or tabled. However, many times the elected officials would like to have input from you, their constituents.

The public often thinks the elected officials are trying to hide things which we feel is incorrect.

There may be things which you think should be done, or should have been done long ago. The thing you are thinking about may have come before the governing body several times, but was tabled or voted down for many possible reasons.

We have seen many instances where political bodies wanted to do certain things, tried, and failed for one reason - lack of money.

You as a family know about the many things you would like to do, but a lack of money many times may delay or cancel the plans. Well, the officials running a county, city, or board run into the same problems.

In talking to the majority of our officials who spend tax dollars, they would like to see more residents attending meetings (with the exception of one official body and we will tackle that problem at a later date).

You as a resident can do your community a big service by becoming concerned about what really happens to your tax dollars, what type of job your elected officials really do and most important how you as resident can help your community.

The press is doing it's job when it brings you the good as well as the bad news. You can be doing your job of helping also by becoming involved in your community government and attending as many meetings as possible.

Health Tip

From the AMA

GUIDELINES FOR SWIMMERS

(Presented as a Public Service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

As the outdoor swimming season approaches, the safety experts predict with certainty that some thousands of Americans will drown in the coming summer months.

They will drown in swimming pools, in lakes and streams, at ocean beaches. Some will drown while in for a refreshing dip, and others will fall out of boats and off docks and piers.

Many, if not most, of these drownings need not happen.

The Mississippi State Medical Association offers some basic safety rules that will help to avoid a tragic water accident for your family.

Learn to swim, and to relax in the water.

Never swim alone.

Do not swim when overly tired or when the water is extremely cold.

Do not overestimate your ability and endurance.

Swim at protected pools or beaches under the supervision of a trained lifeguard.

If a boat overturns, stay with it. Don't try to swim a long distance to shore.

Never dive into waters of unknown depth.

Try new activities, such as water skiing or scuba diving, only after learning the skills from qualified instructors.

Many families will do most of their swimming this season in private pools, in their own backyards or in those of a friend or neighbor. There also are some special safety precautions for private pools.

Make certain the pool is kept clean and the water chemically purified.

Walk, don't run, about the pool.

Horseplay is dangerous.

Fence the pool and keep the gate locked to keep out small children.

Keep handy rescue equipment, such as long poles and ring buoys.

Keep bottles and glasses away from the concrete or metal pool deck.

A Thank You list

Dear Sir,

I had an accident on Nov. 11, 1977. My sincere thanks go out to the telephone operator who so kindly dialed the numbers I needed for help.

My thanks also go to Mrs. Albert Biehl and grandson Sam Sterling, who were the first to come to my aid.

My brother, Clyde C. Koerner, nephew Clyde Jr. and wife Sandie also have my thanks, as does Dr. M. J. Wolf, Sr. who came to my home.

Over a period of time, Mrs. Biehl Sr. came and so did Mrs. Elsie Chopin.

Mrs. Carol Wilson, therapist, and Board of Health nurses and nurses' aide were also there when I needed them.

Not to say less, however, for the help of Mrs. Juanita Helscher and Mrs. Rosalee Beningo.

Mrs. Ben Jordan, who brought me Communion every Friday also has my thanks, along with all the people from the Catholic, Baptist, Methodist and Mormon Churches who sent me their prayers.

By all means, I must not forget Mrs. Lynn Shaw, the young lady who took me to see Dr. Throop.

Nor can I forget "Prince Charming," who took me down my front steps in the wheel chair and got me to the car. Both of these people helped me learn to walk again.

May God bless and keep all of you strong and healthy.

Iris M. Koerner

Mississippi consumer report

CON OR CONTRACTOR

Q: I'm going to have some work done to my house this summer. How can I be sure to get a reputable contractor?

A: Like bears out of hibernation, unscrupulous home repair contractors begin the summer full of vigor and energy. Claiming to be roofers, painters, carpenters, siding installers, these operators attempt to take advantage of the homeowner's springtime impulse to clean up and fix up.

Consumers often are taken by such operators because they are unaware of the schemes they employ and are not familiar with ways of dealing with contractors.

The sales approach of the fly-by-night contractors follows certain patterns; they include:

-Without notice, a salesman or repairman comes to your door and offers you a special, introductory, low price for some kind of home repair.

-A painter, a siding salesman, a roofer offers you a special price for home repair if you let him use your house as a model or demonstrator to show to possible customers.

-A home repair contractor comes to your house and offers to do work at a cheap rate because his equipment and crew are in the neighborhood.

-A repairman offers to spray your roof or driveway with a sealer for a bargain price.

Their attraction is what appears to be a cheap price and quick work. Unfortunately, their stock in trade is hit and run; they do inferior work, accept payment, and leave the area before their work is found unsatisfactory.

The practitioners of these schemes are clever. They usually take a look at the exterior of your house before coming to the door. Consequently, the work they offer to do will probably be work that you yourself have considered getting done.

No group or class of consumer is free from the grasp of such operators. The elderly, though, seem particularly susceptible, perhaps because they live in older houses or because they are more tempted by price-saving offers since their income is usually limited.

One can't assert too strongly that you should not agree on the spot to have work done by those who come to your door unasked. The work that these people do is usually calculated to last just slightly longer than their stay in your neighborhood or town.

What initially seems cheap or a bargain doesn't turn out to be so when you have to have the job done again.

In addition to treating with special caution the stranger that comes to your door offering to do contracting work, there are procedures to follow when doing business with any contractor—first, get the names and addresses of several local contractors.

One good way of doing this is to ask friends and neighbors who have had work done.

Another source is the yellow pages of the phone book. Next, ask these contractors to come to your home. Explain to each what work you want done. Ask him:

-What the work will involve;
-When he would be able to begin;
-How long it would take him to complete the work;

-The total cost;
-What guarantees he provides;
-The method of payment (the full amount when work is completed, periodic, etc.)

Then ask the contractors you are impressed with to give you a firm, written estimate. These estimates should contain a specific description of the work to be done and should include a description of the kind and quality of materials to be used. Make certain that all the estimates include the total price.

After you get the written estimates, you are ready to make a final choice. But don't just consider price.

Reports about the workmanship of the contractor from friends, your feelings about the contractor's reliability, the amount of work time involved, the guarantee offered should all enter into your decision.

VALUABLE POST CARDS - Refund checks from South Central Bell to customers in Hancock County arrived in mail boxes this week looking much like junk mail postcards. The refund checks, blank on one side, carry only scant explanation of their source intelligible to most subscribers. The refunds resulted from the Mississippi Public Service Commission's refusal to grant the telephone company a rate increase in the full amount requested by the company. South Central Bell, prior to the ruling had been collecting at the full rate requested.

Caddy spoils...

The proposed facilities will cost approximately $500,000 according to John Bortages of the Port and Harbor Commission. Federal funding for the project will be about $248,000, he said.

Boat slips, docks, service areas and parking facilities will accommodate 50 boats, according to Corps plans.

Wilson Webre, director of the harbor commission, said "Hancock County hasn't faced up to the need for a spoils area before...Now is the time to act" - while finances are available.

Webre stressed that "The economic benefits far outweigh the environmental factors." Mary Caillier, representing citizens of the Lakeshore area who will be exposed to the spoil area, questioned potential health and drainage problems that could arise from dumping of spoil sludge.

"The worry of residents in the area comes from the fact that no one knows what spoil really is," Mrs. Caillier said.

"People are scared of the word," she added.

Spoil was defined by Lee as materials that will be surfaced from the basin bottom.

"There is no way," Lee explained, "to determine its content."

When asked by Mrs. Caillier if the spoil will add to the current drainage problems now existing in Lakeshore,

Lee said the spoil will contain "some soft clays" which contribute to drainage problems.

"There will be clean white sands as well as problem substance," Lee explained.

Development of the master marina plan by Burke and Associates will take another 60 days, according to Hill.

"This plan will detail what we will destroy as well as create...we are going to get as much harbor as we can," Hill said.

June 30 will be cut off date for state and local environmentalists to submit statements and date to support and protect their interests.

U.S. Wildlife and Fisheries official Dieter Busch of the agency's NSTL office expressed his department's interest by saying, "You can always see a wetland going to a parking lot, but a parking lot can never go back to a wetland."

Deputy Engineer Donald Pope of the Corps' Mobile office, at an earlier meeting, referred to the wetlands as being a "unique ecology."

In accordance with this belief, Lee said, the Corps will not "go into the wetlands without justification."

Justification of Corps invasion of Bayou Cadet area wetlands must be accomplished by Hancock County and its Port and Harbor Commission prior to the June 30 cutoff date.

Washington report

B. Trent Lott

STILL A ROTTEN APPLE?

New York City is a remarkable place. It has a sizeable percentage of this country's financial wizards and welfare recipients. It is a fertile mixing bowl of artists and con-artists.

Its public service employees earn salaries that are the envy of the nation. And its government still must rely on your tax dollars to stave off financial collapse.

Last week, New York City rushed the Congress again for help in shoring up a fiscal situation which is much less glamorous than the bright lights of Broadway.

The House responded, after spirited debate, with 247-to-155 approval of $2 billion in federally-backed loan guarantees for the next 15 years. I voted against the bill for a number of reasons.

The House vote marked the very first time in our nation's history that the strength of the federal government had been put full force behind long-term financial obligations of a single American city.

A short three years ago, as you recall, New York City was on the Congress's doorstep to receive billions of dollars in short-term loans designed to enable it to regain its financial footing.

There isn't any doubt that New York City has made some progress since then. The state's congressional delegation is quick to point out that the city has repaid every loan with interest and on time, and contributed an additional $40 million to the federal treasury.

They tell you that the city has eliminated some 60,000 jobs, closed 25 fire companies and 77 day care centers, increased subway fares by 40 percent, imposed tuition at the previously-free city university and slashed the welfare rolls to their lowest level in eight years.

But the "seasonal" or short term financing act approved by Congress in 1975 expires on June 30, leaving New York City in the position of being barred from private credit markets. The city, because of its flitting with disaster and bankruptcy, cannot convince potential investors that its credit is good.

The measure approve by the House will provide federally-guaranteed loans in order that the city can re-enter the private credit market.

Members of Congress were assured that the safeguards are adequate to protect your money. One of those safeguards was possible withholding of federal funds earmarked to New York if any defaults occur.

Additionally, New York's financial condition will be monitored from the outside. Even the State of New York would share in the liability as far as the federal government is concerned.

I agree with Arthur Burns, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, when he wrote, "Long-term involvement in the financial affairs of a local government has never been the business of the federal government."

New York provides a classic example that you can't live high on the hog without paying for the bacon.

It is now imperative that the "Big Apple" comes to its senses and face the cold, hard truth that it is just about broke and must deal effectively with its labor and financial management problems immediately.

Fast Rising Dough

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes; and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

A public service of this publication and The Advertising Council.

First, take one small part of your paycheck, put it into the Payroll Savings Plan, and buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Then just sit back and watch your dough rise. Cause Bonds are one of the easiest ways to save you'll ever find. (Not to mention one of the safest.)

After all, they've been around a long, long time. And they've always paid off. To the penny. And if they're ever lost, stolen, or destroyed, they'll be replaced.

So take stock in your country. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. When you need dough, they rise to the occasion.

VA news

Q-Is waiver of premiums on VA insurance available for total disability occurring after the insured's 65th birthday?

A - For policies with the prefix V, H, RS, W, J, JR or RH, the total disability must commence before the 65th birthday, continue for six or more consecutive months, and while the insurance is in force under the premium paying conditions. World War I insurance policies (prefix K) have a special total disability provision which permits premium waiver at any age, and also pays a specified monthly income per $1000 of coverage if the insured so elects.

Q - I understand I can have my widow's pension check from VA sent directly to my bank under the direct deposit system. How can I arrange this?

A - Make application to your bank or financial institution which will assist you in completing the necessary forms and forward them to VA. It is important that the applicant have a file number, benefit check or some VA correspondence concerning benefits when making application.

Q - I am a World War II veteran who has never used any GI home loan benefits. Am I still eligible?

A - This benefit is available without time limits on its use for veterans of World War II and later periods.

Q - I am a veteran and wish to sell my VA financed home to a non-veteran. Can I do so and be released from liability for the loan?

A - Yes. If the loan is current, the purchaser assumes full liability for the loan, and the purchaser meets VA credit and income criteria, you may be released from liability.

Q - After my husband died I received a monthly widow's pension from the VA. This benefit was terminated when I remarried. My second husband has since died. Can I receive anything from the VA based on the military service of my first husband?

A - Yes. Providing your yearly income is within the current limits, you may again be eligible to receive a monthly widow's pension.

Q - My WWII term National Service Life Insurance lapsed several years ago. May I reinstate it?

A - You may reinstate your lapsed term insurance by meeting health requirements and paying necessary premiums, at any time within five years of the date of lapse. Contact the office where your insurance records are located or the nearest VA office for complete information.

Q - I still have my mother listed as beneficiary on my World War II NSLI policy. In my will I have designated my wife as principal beneficiary and our children are contingent beneficiaries. Is this enough to allow my heirs to receive the insurance proceeds?

A - Wills cannot change beneficiaries named on VA life insurance policies. To change beneficiary designations, will out VA Form 29-336 and return it to the VA insurance center where your records are located. The form is available at any VA office. If the office is not convenient to you, write to the office where your insurance records are located, clearly stating your beneficiary designation and specifying the optional settlement of your choice.

Q - What is considered wartime service during World War II for pension benefits?

A - December 7, 1941 through December 31, 1946.

Q - What is the current rate of interest on the VA guaranteed loan?

A - The current rate of interest is eight-and-three-quarters percent.

PERCENT ELIGIBLE
Nearly 44 percent of the nation's population are potentially eligible for Veterans Administration benefits.

GI TRAINING
Since the first GI Bill was signed into law in 1944, over 17 million veterans have taken some form of training under this popular program.

VA 1979
The Veterans Administration estimates some 1.4 million veterans and their survivors will receive educational benefits monthly under the GI Bill in Fiscal Year 1979.

VA CHECKS
The Veterans Administration processes approximately 84 million compensation, pension and education allowance checks annually.

VIETNAM VETS
Vietnam Era veterans made 3.5 million outpatient visits to VA hospitals last year, or nearly one quarter of all visits to the agency's 172 hospitals, 219 outpatient clinics, 16 domiciliarys and 89 nursing home care units.

WAR VETS
Nearly 90 percent of the 30 million living ex-servicemen are war veterans - persons with military service during defined periods of armed hostilities.

VA WOMEN
Women comprise more than 52 percent of the Veterans Administration workforce. The federal government's third largest agency in terms of personnel, VA employs some 106,000 women on a full-time basis.

VA WORKFORCE
VA employs some 38,000 handicapped men and women including 14,000 veterans with service-connected disabilities, or 16 percent of the agency's total workforce.

MVSU SUMMER SCHOOL
Applications for the second 1978 summer session of Mississippi Valley State University are now being accepted for undergraduates and graduates. July 7 will be the last day for applying for the session which will last July 10 thru August 11. For more information contact: Larry Edmond, Dir. of Public Relations, P.O. Box 248, Itta Bena, Miss. 38841.

STRAWBERRY WORMS
Plastic worms are one of the most popular types of lures anglers use for black bass.

Many near-record fish have been taken on these bait replicas, and manufacturers are always looking for new ways to make plastic worms even more effective.

To that end, they've taken to flavoring their worms with such pleasant scents as bananas, strawberries, lime, blueberries and others.

Now who ever heard of a bass that liked blueberries? The real reason for the scented worms, say the fishing experts at Mercury outdoors, is not to please the fish's taste buds, but to fool his scent glands.

Bass have highly developed smell receptors on their gill rakers and along the lateral lines of their bodies. And man-scent is repulsive to them, just as it is to most wild creatures.

Therefore, in order for fishermen to camouflage man-odor, which transfers to a plastic worm when it is handled, the lure makers impregnate their plastic worms with scents which are thought to please the bass.

Anyway, the next time you fish a strawberry worm and it doesn't produce, maybe you ought to add a little whipped cream, some sugar and eat the thing yourself.

IRS exam deadline is Aug. 15

The deadline for filing an application to take the IRS Special Enrollment Examination is August 15, 1978, the Internal Revenue Service announced this week. The examination, to be given on September 25 and 26, is given annually to qualify persons who are neither CPA's nor attorneys to represent clients before the IRS.

Persons who want to take the examination must submit Form 2587, Application for the 1978 Special Enrollment Examination, to the director, audit division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. 20224. No extensions of time to file applications will be granted beyond August 15, the IRS said.

The application must be accompanied by a recent photo of the applicant, which will be used for identification purposes only, and a check or money order for the examination fee, made payable to the Internal Revenue Service.

No fees will be refunded to an applicant who fails to take the examination, but they may be applied as a credit to next year's application fee. Circumstances under which credits may be authorized are provided on application Form 2587.

The 1978 examination will have an increased emphasis on federal tax laws as they apply to business operations such as sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations.

Publication 486, "Requirements for Internal Revenue Service Enrollment and Special Enrollment Examination," identifies sources of tax information that may be helpful in preparing for the examination. The examination will include true or false and multiple choice questions in all of the four parts of the examination.

Application Form 2587; copies of Publication 486 and Publication 693, Sample Booklet "1977 Special Enrollment Examination Questions and Answers," are available from the IRS District Office at 301 N. Lamar Street, Jackson.

SEA COAST ECHO-THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1978-1B

'This is a true story of Hancock County in 1889'

INNOCENT MAN LYNCHED AT McNEIL

According to old stories a man was tortured and then shot north of McNeil in Hancock County along about 1889.

About a mile north of McNeil on the west side of the railroad is an old gravel pit. When the railroad was first built in 1884, gravel was hauled by a work train to surface the road bed of the railroad to prevent erosion. A good number of men were steadily employed in this work. The foreman on the job had some differences with a man living nearby. This man had been discharged by the railroad.

Besides being discharged, he was known to have a grudge against the railroad company for other reasons and had been reported as saying that if he did not get satisfaction and proper treatment from the railroad he was going to wreck a train. Not long after he had made this threat, someone chained a log across the rails on the main line of the railroad near the gravel pit. The engineer on a train coming south along the straight-away there saw what looked like something on the track. He slowed down and was able to bring the train to a halt in time to avoid a wreck.

The train crew removed the log from the track and went on with the train to its destination.

As the railway had given many people jobs in that area almost everybody was friendly to the railroad.

The man was also said to have had some differences with some of the men on the gravel job. The gravel workers and the train crews were all running regularly on trains along where the log was tied to the track.

If a train had been wrecked a number of the workers on the train would surely have been killed. All these men took it as an effort on the part of the man to murder them.

Feelings ran high against the guilty party. Since no one else had been heard to make any remarks about wrecking a train, they all assumed that this was the man who had, as they took it, tried to murder them. Also the man lived nearby and could easily have made the effort to kill them.

A few days later, an engine with the caboose attached was brought to the scene of the attempted wreck by a group of railroad men bent on finding the man guilty of putting the log on the tracks and of wrecking vengeance on him. They were joined by others who were working on the gravel train and by some local people.

The man suspected lived nearby. The group of men went to his house, got him and carried him and his little son to the train and put them in the caboose. They then ran to the old gravel pit away from where they might attract attention.

They tried to make the man confess that he was the man who tried to wreck the train. He denied it. A man present told of hearing him say he was going to wreck a train if he did not get satisfaction from the railroad.

He admitted having made such a statement, but strongly denied that he had actually tied the log to the rails.

The mob believed the man was guilty. They tortured him various ways, but he strongly denied his guilt. They twisted his arm until it was probably broken. They beat him. They took a red hot poker and burnt him in number of places trying to make him confess, but he resolutely refused to say that he had put the log on the track.

When the mob saw that the man would rather die than tell a lie, they came up with a diabolical way to make him confess.

There was a wood cook stove in the caboose for use of the train crew in preparing their meals. A fire was built in this stove. When the stove became red hot, the man was told, unless he confessed, the little boy would be fried on the stove. By now the man was almost dead from the torture he had undergone.

Because of their merciless torture of him, he believed them when they told him they would fry his little son unless he confessed. To save his son, he told them he was the man they wanted.

They took him out up on top of the bank of the gravel pit and tied him to a pine tree. Many bullets were fired into his body. Many of these bullets went through his body and lodged in the tree. The man who told this old story and who was living when this was written said, "When I last saw the tree it was dying."

A hunter hacked the bullets out of the tree and molded them to fit his muzzle loading rifle. (In explanation, lead for bullets was high priced back then and hunters always salvaged what bullets they could use again).

A short while after the lynching, a black man who also had had a grudge against the railroad confessed on his death bed that it was he who had tried to wreck the train. He expressed his great fear of dying because he had been the cause of a good man dying.

The high officials of the railroad did not condone the lynching. They fired every employee who had anything to do with it. After the boy became old enough, the railroad company gave him a good job.

There was less law and order back in the old days. As this was part of Hancock County back then, the sheriff was at Bay St. Louis, about 45 miles away. Travel was slow and it would have taken about 4 days to get the sheriff.

Then, too, in those days it was a more or less common custom for people to take the law into their own hands in serious cases such as this was—a man trying to wreck a train carrying maybe 50 people and trying to make men lose their jobs.

After I went into business in Piquette in 1919, I got to personally know a son of the man who was lynched. He traded at my store regularly for a number of years. He was honest and dependable, but always appeared depressed, sorrowful and of solemn mien as if he could not forget the tragedy of his father's death.

National first in wildlife, fisheries scored by MSU

Wildlife and fisheries management in Hancock County will benefit directly from new research underway at Mississippi State University, according to a university official.

Mississippi has become the first state in the nation to install a cooperative, combined wildlife and fishery research unit.

The unit, located at MSU's Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station, is designed to improve wildlife and fishery management and research by combining resources of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Mississippi Game and Fish Commission, Wildlife Management Institute of Washington, D. C., and MSU.

"Mississippi and various other states have had separate cooperative wildlife research units and fishery units, but this new program brings both segments together," said Dr. Dale H. Arner, head of MSU's Wildlife and Fisheries Department.

The chief advantage of bringing these segments together is flexibility to shift our emphasis from one to the other as needs dictate. We are not tied to, basically, a 50-50 arrangement."

The new unit resulted from combined efforts of Mississippi legislators, members of Congress and MSU. It is supported annually by $150,000 in federal and $40,000 in state funds.

Administration of the unit will be in the hands of a coordinating committee made up of representatives from MSU and the cooperating agencies. Already appointed are Joe Stone, director of the state game and fish commission, and Arner.

According to Arner, the group's leader will likely be selected by early fall and assistant leaders by early 1979. "All of these leaders will have doctorate degrees and will be given professional appointments at MSU," he added.

Arner said federal and state funding for the unit "will strengthen Mississippi State University's academic wildlife and fisheries program via teaching assistance, financial assistance for graduate research activities and better research facilities."

"We have one of the finest wildlife programs in the eastern half of the nation and we should see a major gain in the quality of our fishery program," the director said.

"Mississippi can be proud of this new unit, which, I feel, will make many contributions to maintaining and improving our state's important wildlife and fishery assets," he said.

"If the program is as successful as we anticipate, other states likely will follow our lead," Arner reported.

BOOK DRIVE - Mary Ann and Marilyn Skladzien are choosing books from their home library to donate to Our Lady's Academy's summer-long book drive. The OLA PTO and OLA students are now asking for old books and art work such as pictures and sculpture for the annual book fair this fall. Sheet music, paperback books, picture frames and ceramics are also acceptable. Donations may be brought to the OLG Rectory or call 467-6509 for pick-up.

Fabian commands standing ovation in 1st Bay recital

It was a privilege and pleasure to hear the young artist of Mr. Fabian's recital in the Sy Rosenthal Auditorium at the Bay St. Louis Little Theater. The program was a masterpiece of musical talent and artistry. Mr. Fabian played an exhilarating piece of music by Frederic Chopin, starting with the delicate Nocturne in E-flat followed by Waltz in C-sharp Minor and Nocturne in F-sharp. Also on the program were Polonaise in A and Etude in A-flat.

He concluded the first half of the program with the demanding Scherzo in B-sharp Minor for which he received a standing ovation.

The second half of the program began with Waltz in E-Minor, continuing with Etude in G-flat.

The artist's appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert and great understanding of Chopin's music was truly reflected in his interpretation of Fantasia Impromptu, Etude in C Minor, and Polonaise in A-flat.

He chose Mazurka by Ernesto Lecuona and the popular Somewhere My Love from Dr. Zhivago as his encore numbers.

Bay forfeits openers

Babe Ruth seniors search for coach

By SHARON WALLS
Two games into the season of the Babe Ruth senior league for 16 to 18-year old boys, Bay St. Louis has tallied an 0-2 record by forfeits.

teams in the Babe Ruth senior district, has players, equipment, uniforms, but no coach. "The League was formed months ago," explained Wayne Peterson, district director for the Babe Ruth seniors. "Bobbi Manieri organized a team, found a coach and told us everything was ready. Then, two days before the season, the coach took a summer job and no longer had the time to work with the boys," Peterson said.

Mrs. Manieri has contacted several people but no one seems to have the time. There's got to be somebody who has a couple of hours a week, Peterson feels.

"Experience is not a prerequisite. The team is in desperate need of someone who will just supervise practice, stress sportsmanship and safety. The League is meant to be a training ground. The boys are interested, they're ready, but it's not feasible to let them run the team themselves."

"The kids want to play ball," commented John Gallagher, player representative for the district. "They have the equipment but there is no one who wants to coach them. I have a list of 14 people to contact but so far I've had little results," he explained.

The Bay team will be competing against teams from Pass Christian, Long Beach, and Harrison Central. The season will consist of twelve games, with the teams playing each other three times.

The district winners will compete in the state championships which are scheduled later in the summer on the Gulf Coast.

In Sunday's opening double header at Pass Christian, Harrison Central claimed the win over Bay in their first forfeit. Pass Christian's team edged by Long Beach, 5-4 despite two home runs by Eddie Henson.

Bay forfeited to Pass Christian in Tuesday's action while Long Beach defeated Harrison Central, 14-4.

The third set will be tonight at Harrison Central.

"It is a shame that the team had to forfeit two games because they have no coach," said Gallagher, "but there are 10 more games and the Bay boys could still have a shot at the District title."

Bold Face - Playoff game, Thursday, June 15, 7:00 p.m. American Legion vs. Rotary

BABE RUTH BASEBALL

By Mark McCarthy

Rotary International edged out American Legion, 10-9, to move into a tie for first place in Babe Ruth baseball action this week. The two teams then sealed the tie-up with a win apiece in further season first-half play.

Rotary International struck for three runs in the bottom of the sixth, overcoming an early American Legion lead, to pull out a 10-9 victory Sunday.

The win, which vaulted Rotary into a tie for the league championship, overshadowed Kelly Geroux's second inning grand-slam homer.

A walk, a single, and a walk preceded Geroux's blast, a 310-foot shot over the left field fence. Perre Cabell was the starter and winner for Rotary, collecting his third win of the season.

Bruce Cabell had two hits and Rodney Carr doubled in three RBIs, as the team erased an 8-2 deficit.

Steve Seymour was tagged with loss, relieving David Strong in the fourth. Dennis Rhodes had three hits, while Strong, Geroux, and Seymour contributed two safeties apiece to aid the Legion offense.

Rotary used two hits and three defensive errors in the decisive sixth frame.

Coast Electric forfeited its game with Chazex Construction, when it was discovered that Coast was using an ineligible pitcher.

With Chazex leading 8-6 in the fourth, it was found that pitcher Bobby Richardson had completed his ninth inning for the week, two more than the league's limit.

Kelly Geroux and Steve Seymour combined for a one-hit shutout Tuesday as American Legions cruised past Coast Electric, 10-0, to seal a tie for first place in the first half of regular season competition. "David Strong rapped three hits while Geroux had two hits and an RBI. Seymour, 3-1, allowed Coast Electric's only hit, a fourth inning infield single by Tony Manion."

Joe Bye was tagged with the loss, although he was relieved by Roger Wopdall after a third of an inning.

Aluminum wiring hazards cited by Safety Commission

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has notified the House Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations about fire hazards associated with residential aluminum wiring systems manufactured between 1965 and 1973.

CPSC has filed suit against 26 manufacturers of aluminum wire and devices used in these systems in a Federal Court in the District of Columbia. The case is pending.

In the suit, CPSC has asked the court to declare the product to be an imminently hazardous consumer product. The Commission has also asked the court to order the industry to warn consumers of the hazard and to repair the dangerous conditions existing in as many as 1 1/2 to 2 million homes.

The Commission said "that the primary responsibility for alerting the public and correcting the hazard rests with industry. However, because of the delays inherent in the judicial process and the grave danger to an unwary public, the CPSC is searching for ways to best warn consumers."

In response to questions about what consumers can do, the Commission advises:

Write CPSC, Washington, DC 20207 or call our toll-free Hotline (800)636-2666, for our pamphlet titled "Do You Have An Electrical System with Aluminum Wiring?"

If you think you may have aluminum wiring installed between 1965 and 1973, call an experienced electrician for an inspection.

- Do not attempt repairs yourself.
 - Watch for warning signs such as:
 - Cover plates on switches and outlets which are warm or hot to the touch;
 - Smoke coming from outlets or switches;
 - Sparks or arcing at switches and outlets;
 - Strange odors, especially the smell of burning plastic, in the area of outlets or switches.
 - Lights which flicker periodically (in some cases, faulty appliances or other unrelated causes may result in lights flickering);
 - Outlets, lights, or entire circuits which fail to work.
- Call and electrician immediately if you detect any such danger signals.

HIGH FASHION - Fashions suited to the special occasions on the summer schedule of an active elementary school student were the order of the day at a recent style show staged by second graders at Waveland Elementary School. Mental Health Center ends testing program in Waveland Waveland Elementary School has completed a second and final year as a 'target school' in a Gulf Coast Mental Health Center testing program.

Every two years, three elementary schools from Harrison, Hancock, Stone, and Pearl River Counties are chosen to serve as target schools by the Children's Services Unit of the Center.

The staff of the Unit have found a two-year time span to be the most effective method of reaching the children.

The target school concept, which is funded through a Children Youth Services grant, has the primary purpose of screening and testing children for learning, behavior, or emotional problems.

It is conducted throughout the first grade classes and with the knowledge and permission of school officials, teachers, and parents.

Ms. Martha Brown, counselor for Children's Services and liaison for Waveland Elementary, notes that the program is designed to be a means of early intervention for the children it serves.

The Camp Committee, headed by Mrs. John Holmes of Bay St. Louis, has organized several innovative units for this summer's camping sessions.

Registrations are still being accepted for the fun unit and aquatic unit.

Girls ages six through 17 will participate in activities geared to their specific interests.

Registration forms may be obtained from either Mrs. Torres or Mrs. Holmes and through the Gulf Pines Council Offices in Hattiesburg and Gulfport.

Camp Ita Kana is open year round for weekend and troop camping and throughout the summer for scheduled established camping sessions. The camp is open to all girls regardless of race, creed or national origin.

Nursing, therapy classes open at PRC Vo-Tech

Applications for the licensed practical nursing and respiratory therapy courses at Pearl River Junior College's Hattiesburg Vo-Tech Center are now being accepted by the Mississippi State Employment Service.

After completion of testing and evaluation by the Employment Service, the applicant will be referred to the Vo-Tech Center to pick up applications and other pertinent information concerning the program. The deadline for completing the application process will be June 30.

There will be three LPN classes limited to 14 students each and one respiratory class limited to 16 students.

These courses require 12 months to complete and upon completion the graduate is eligible to take the state board examination, and if successful is then a Licensed Practical Nurse or Respiratory Therapy Technician.

The first 20 weeks of these courses are devoted to class work, laboratory practice, and some hospital experience. The next 30 weeks are devoted to clinical practice in the affiliated hospitals, either the Forrest General or Methodist.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Pearl River Junior College Vo-Tech Center, Highway 49 South, or phone 544-1281.

Kentucky SBA honors former Bay resident

J. C. Egnew, a former NASA-NSTL employee has been named Kentucky's Small Business Administration man-of-the-year.

Egnew, 37, now president of his own tent manufacturing company, Outdoor Venture Corporation (OVC) in Stearns, Ky., worked for NASA in the late 1960's.

In 1968, he married the former Azalie Margaret Farve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Farve, 314 State St., Bay St. Louis.

Plans for Egnew to start his own company began in 1971 while he was a middle manager for a tent manufacturer in Knoxville, Tenn.

Egnew and a co-worker who is now OVC's vice president, decided to take an opportunity they saw their employer overlooking.

By 1972, OVC had officially began as a small factory in a grocery warehouse in the mining town of Stearns.

Six years later it employs 120 instead of 36.

Egnew attributes the company's beginning success to surviving largely on the mistakes of others, since the first large accounts came through filling orders that had been promised but were undeliverable by other companies.

After recording $779,000 in sales for 1972, larger accounts were added.

By last July, OVC's sales reached $8.1 million and the once grocery warehouse has long been replaced by a 90,000 square-foot plant.

National pesticide monitoring honors work of EPA's Hancock lab

A constant watch on the levels of pesticides in air, water, soils, fish, wildlife and man throughout the nation is being maintained in Hancock County for the Environmental Protection Agency.

The unique pesticide monitoring role is part of the work being done here in EPA laboratories at NASA-NSTL. Congress passed the National Environmental Policy Act in 1969 creating the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The Office of Pesticides Programs was formed and from that stemmed divisions and laboratories... including the National Pesticide Monitoring Laboratory.

The laboratory is unique within EPA and became an important part of NSTL on Friday, April 13, 1972.

The lab supports the ongoing function of monitoring levels and trends of pesticide concentration in environmental components such as air, water, soils, wildlife, fish and man.

Initially, baseline or background levels of pesticide residue are developed, from samples, collected nationwide.

Against these standards, increasing trends, erratic variations, accumulations of potentially harmful substances, and adverse effects on humans can be evaluated.

"We're dealing strictly with pesticide monitoring," Dr. Han Tai, director of the laboratory, said. "It is a census type of operation where we take thousands of samples and report the results to Washington, D.C."

Tai joined EPS upon its creation. He first hired for the Department of Agriculture and worked for them one day before EPA was formed. The next day he was transferred to the new agency.

The lab itself works in three areas: ambient monitoring, special projects and the analyzing of organic compounds.

In ambient monitoring, the chemists take inventory or a census of what has been done to the environment, establishing a baseline value.

In the special projects category, the chemists are looking for a cause for what happened.

One example occurred in the Mississippi Delta in 1974 when thousands of chickens became contaminated with dieldrin.

The lab was requested to determine the extent of the contamination.

Louisiana had a similar case but with 9,000-10,000 head of cattle. The lab traced the contamination back and found the herbicide hexachlorobenzene the culprit. The cattle had eaten grass with the herbicide on it.

The lab also made a study of the pesticide 1,4,5-T (trichlorophenoxyacetic acid) which showed that it contained the chemical impurity dioxin, the most toxic substance known to man. These findings brought about curtailment of the use of the pesticide because of the effect it can have on humans.

In the other division, organic compounds are analyzed and organic pollutants in industry effluents are tested to find out the amount of pollutants in the environment.

Through the years, the lab has grown in function and equipment and doubled in size. Tai said the net worth has doubled in the past five years. At this time, the 24 lab scientists look for pesticide residues and the 129 priority organic pollutants in the samples.

To find something, Tai said, is like locating a needle in a haystack and then telling how long it is.

"Good Mornin' Blues" to be aired on PBS

Mississippi ETV's "Good Mornin' Blues" has been accepted for national distribution by the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS).

PBS will distribute the one-hour documentary for broadcast to its member stations, including the statewide Mississippi ETV Network, at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

"Good Mornin' Blues," narrated by Mississippi-born B. B. King, traces blues music from its earliest origins around the turn of the century until World War II. Featured is the music of 18 blues musicians.

The program explores the Mississippi Delta roots of country blues music which provided the basis for rhythm and blues, rock and roll, soul and much of modern music today.

King's narration was filmed near Cleveland, Mississippi, at Dockery's plantation, recognized as the home of many of the singers in the film. Others were filmed around Mississippi where they live or work.

The program is one of the most comprehensive collections of blues singers ever to appear in one film, according to producer Rob Cooper.

"Good Mornin' Blues" received a favorable review in the March 29 issue of Variety.

According to the review, "Good Mornin' Blues" is more than a TV special on the blues. It's a valuable piece of oral history that traces development of the idiom through film, recordings and interviews with blues vocalists who perform their tunes in inimitable style. With these artists and with still and motion picture film, B. B. King pieces together a history of the blues, which begin in Africa and became work songs and field hollers during slavery in Southern United States, especially in the flat, dusty Mississippi Delta, which is effectively photographed to convey desolation. With programs like this, which convey blues' role in U.S. music, there's no need to worry that the form will ever die."

"Good Mornin' Blues" is a production of the Mississippi Center for Educational Television. Producer, Rob Cooper; writer, Edward Cohen; executive producer-director, Walt Lowe.
